

The Government Killed Kennedy

The Motive:

Some theorist suspected Lyndon B. Johnson of being involved in the assassination of Kennedy because he "disliked" the Kennedys and feared that he would be dropped from the Democratic ticket for the 1964 election. According to author Joachim Joesten , Johnson was from Texas and "played the leading part" in a conspiracy that involved "the Dallas oligarchy and ... local branches of the CIA, the FBI, and the Secret Service".

Researcher Barr McClellan published the book Blood, Money & Power. McClellan claims that a smudged partial fingerprint from the sniper's nest likely belonged to Johnson's associate Malcolm "Mac" Wallace, and that Mac Wallace was, therefore, on the sixth floor of the Depository at the time of the shooting.

Madeleine Brown, who alleged she was the mistress of Johnson, also implicated him in a conspiracy to kill Kennedy. Brown said that Johnson, along with H. L. Hunt, had begun planning Kennedy's demise as early as 1960. Brown claimed that by its fruition in 1963, the conspiracy involved dozens of persons, including the leadership of the FBI and the Mafia, as well as prominent politicians and journalists. Madeleine Brown and May Newman (an employee of Texas oilman Clint Murchison) both placed FBI

Director J. Edgar Hoover at a social gathering at Murchison's mansion the night before the assassination. Also in attendance, according to Brown, were Richard Nixon, George Brown, R. L. Thornton, and H. L. Hunt. Madeleine Brown claimed that Johnson arrived at the gathering late in the evening and, in a "grating whisper," told her that the "...Kennedys will never embarrass me again—that's no threat—that's a promise."

Former U.S. Army Intelligence officer John M. Newman expressed a belief that CIA chief of counter-intelligence James Angleton was probably the key figure in the assassination. According to Newman, only Angleton "had the access, the authority, and the diabolically ingenious mind to manage this sophisticated plot."

However, Newman surmised that the cover Allen Dulles (the former CIA director, and member, who had been dismissed by Kennedy invasion) operation was done under later Warren Commission after the failed Bay of Pigs
